Your internship

Are you interested in gaining a new perspective on the complex, international and future-challenging healthcare and life science industry? Do you want to work in a collegial environment that is full of opportunities? Are you well organized, highly motivated and have good a sense of humor?

Perfect! Then apply to IQVIA for an internship, in which you can bring in the whole range of your skills and talents!

We have open internship positions available in our German offices where we also offer the new hybrid-model of working from home a few days/week. Our main offices are located in Frankfurt am Main, Munich and Bensheim.

Your student job

There are several options for students:

- We offer internships from 3 to 6 months throughout the calendar year. To us it does not matter if you are looking for a mandatory or voluntary internship – we offer both.
- Another option is a long-term student worker position in one of our teams. This enables you to get more in-depth insights into the daily business as well as project work within your team.

- Both of these options, internship and student job, will give you insights on what it means to work in an international, analytical and consultative company. You might also decide that this environment will be your first choice for your job after having completed your studies!
- We are always interested in staying in contact with our previous student colleagues and appreciate their interest in returning to the company. Please do not hesitate to contact us in this case!

Your profile

The profiles we are looking for vary depending on the department you are interested in and their core strengths. However generally speaking, you should ideally combine the following skills when applying to IQVIA:

- student ratings which are above average
- study major which matches the requirements of the department you would like to join for your internship or student job
- general knowledge of at least three semesters at your current or a previous university
- very good command of the German and English language
- an inclusive mindset
- a strong team spirit

Your salary

For you and IQVIA it is important to hire you with fair conditions. This means, on one hand, that your internship or your student job does indeed further your professional orientation and, on the other hand, that you receive appropriate remuneration.

Your application

You will find internships and possible student jobs on our German as well as international career site.

If you know in which department team you would like to complete your internship or do your student job and you do not find a suitable vacancy on our website, please contact us. You can also send us an unsolicited application – in this case, please let us know your preferred area of responsibility for the internship or student job.

To apply, please use the online application form on our career site: <https://jobs.iqvia.com/>.
