

IQVIA Clinical Trial Financial Suite: At A Glance

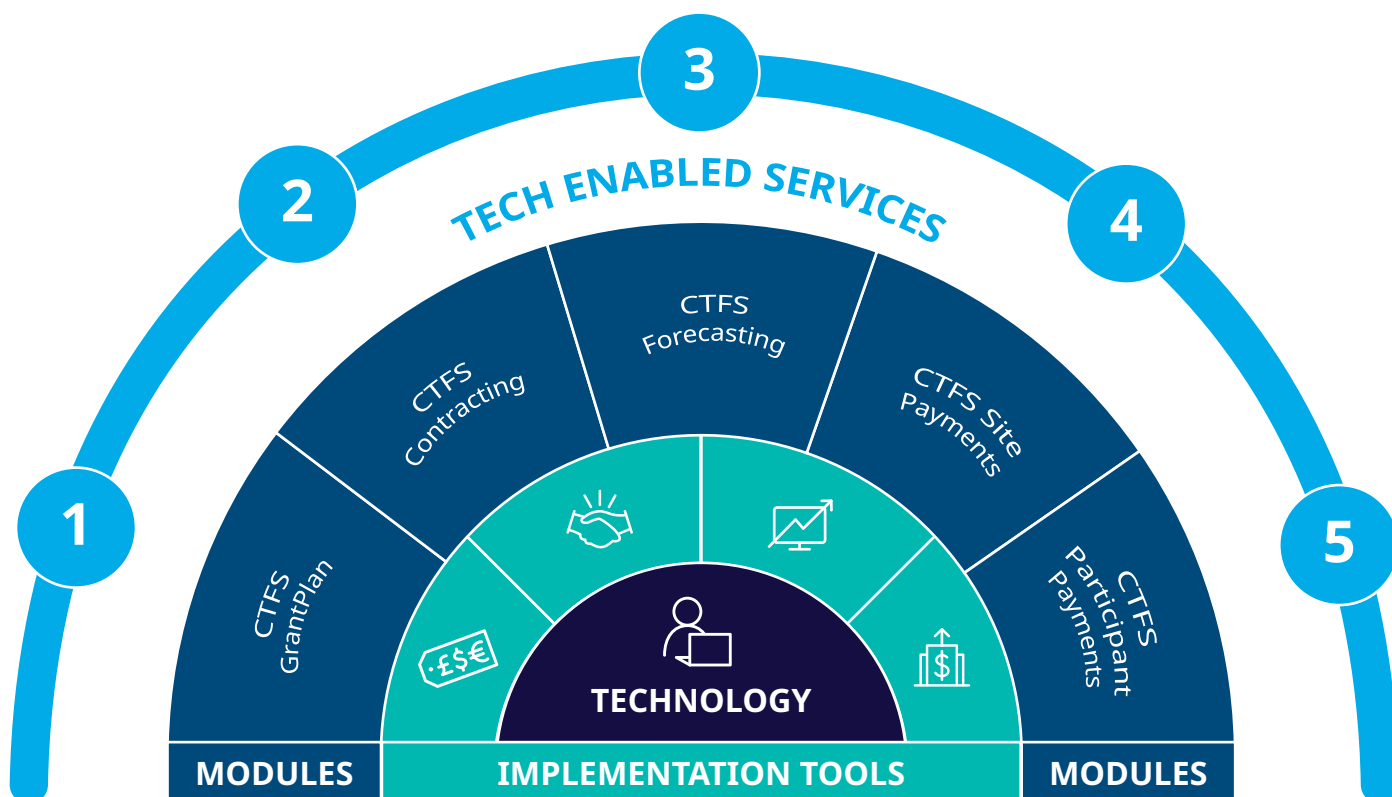

Put site performance first with the only end-to-end clinical trial financial software

Now there's a better way to manage the complexities of clinical trial financial management. IQVIA Clinical Trial Financial Suite (CTFS) brings a unified approach to global financial management within one intelligent, AI-enabled platform.

- Eliminate fragmentation and manual effort.
- Manage operations from budgeting to forecasting to payments.
- Gain real-time visibility into site payments and financial processes.
- Promote clinical trial site success with fuller transparency and automation.

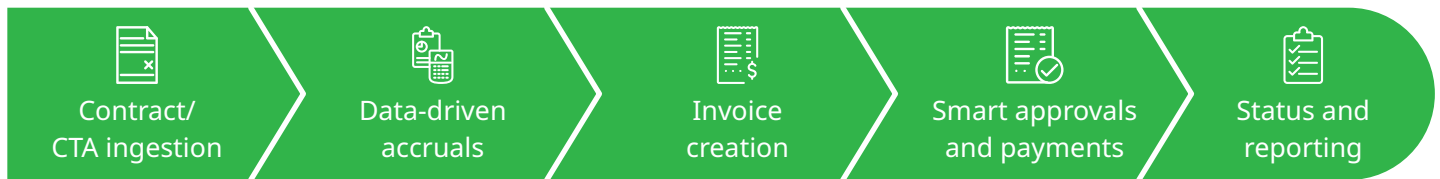

Unified, globally scalable, and powered by agentic AI

Across five core modules that connect and simplify all financial aspects of clinical trial management, CTFS empowers sponsors to act faster, scale globally and coordinate payments with site-first success in mind.

Introducing CTFS Site Payments

As the first module launched on the CTFS platform, CTFS Site Payments brings end-to-end automation to one of the most fragmented trial processes. This next-generation solution converts site payments from a siloed function to a unified activity within the CTFS ecosystem, yielding faster cycle times and higher site satisfaction.

- Supports insourced, outsourced, or hybrid payment management models.
- Drives stronger financial governance with automated invoice ingestion, validation, anomaly detection, split payments, and global tax compliance.
- Includes self-service tools for sponsors and sites, full audit trails, and real-time payment tracking.
- Accelerates first site payments and simplifies amendments, CTAs and EDC integration.
