IQVIA HealthCare Locator Software Development Kit

Our open-source, white-label software development kit (SDK) enables patient-facing mobile apps and web portals to quickly activate healthcare provider (HCP) search modules through integration with one of the world's largest and most accurate sources of HCP data. It provides you with ready-to-use software features and data, connects you with an ecosystem of partners and can bring you new revenue streams.

Quickly and easily integrate customizable HCP search modules within mobile apps and web portals

The IQVIA HealthCare Locator SDK is a set of pre-built screens and features connected to data that allow developers to quickly and easily integrate HCP search modules in their mobile apps and web portals. It includes application components, customizable screens and real-time access to IQVIA and third-party data and features.
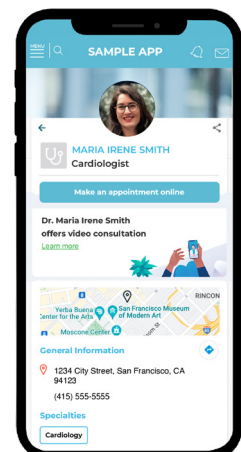

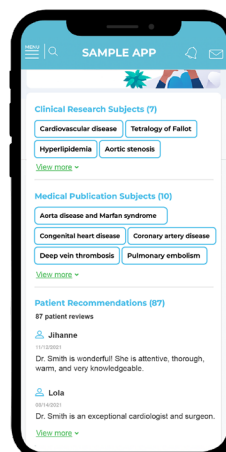

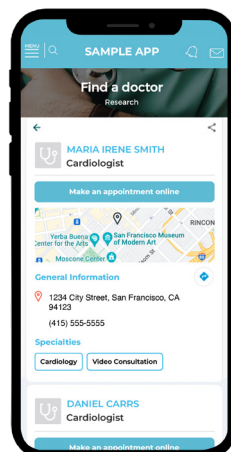

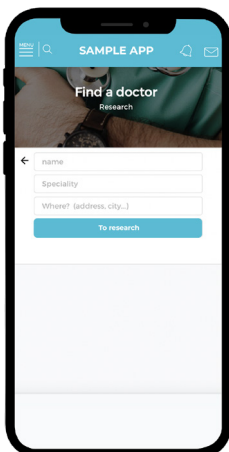

For your users

With over 500,000 healthcare apps and web portals on the market, it's getting harder to attract and retain users. Increasing user engagement requires differentiated, compelling features. Provider search modules activated with the IQVIA HealthCare Locator SDK empower patient users with all of the information they need in one place, allowing them to:

| Search for HCPs or HCOs by name, specialty, location or medical term | Access detailed HCP profiles and locations on a map | Review HCP journal articles, clinical research and recommendations | Schedule in-person appointments or teleconsultation |

For your team

The IQVIA HealthCare Locator SDK makes HCP data sourcing, integration and maintenance easy and cost-effective.

Benefits include:

SOFTWARE FEATURES
Partner with a trusted software provider to eliminate the need for resource-intensive development, data integration and maintenance. The SDK is available for iOS, Android, JavaScript Native, Angular and React.
